"Technology & Economics"

Quantum™

NPWT devices made available to facilities free of charge.
Innovative Therapies' Pay-For-Therapy™ program reduces costs and introduces the newest technology in NPWT:
Simultaneous irrigation, enabling fast wound healing.

Care-Focused Technology

- Quantum is the first fully loaded NPWT with an exclusive technological advance—simultaneous irrigation.
- Revolutionary technology breaks through old industry standards to present the smallest and lightest pump available.
- Unique, durable foam dressings protect and promote wound healing.

Cost Savings

- Pay-For-Therapy™ means that you only pay for the hours the device is used. Eliminates wasted hours and days paying for devices that are not in use—and avoids capital purchases.
- No administration or service of devices by facility staff—devices are made available free of charge and serviced by Innovative Therapies service staff.
- More financial predictability as the Quantum purchase model gives hospitals greater control.

Improved Control of Care Economics

- Better control of care delivery and resource utilization.
- The Quantum NPWT device works seamlessly across all healthcare settings—inpatient or outpatient, as well as short- and long-term therapy.
- One hospital-to-home system with less hassle—no tracking, no maintenance, no rental contracts with Quantum.

Simultaneous Irrigation

Wound Care. Anywhere.

A unique advancement in negative pressure wound therapy

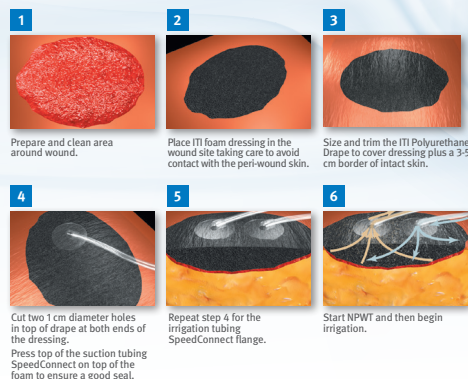

The Quantum® and SVED® Systems provide NPWT with simultaneous irrigation that helps promote optimal wound healing

Innovative Therapies, Inc. is committed to providing healthcare professionals with the latest advances in wound care treatment. The Innovative Therapies wound treatment system is the only system designed to combine negative pressure wound therapy (NPWT) with irrigation—simultaneously, eliminating interruptions in NPWT treatment.

Advantages of Innovative Therapies' proprietary simultaneous irrigation:

- Enables controlled delivery of appropriate topical wound treatment solutions and suspensions
- Provides fluids to keep wounds clean and moist, and help removal of infectious materials
- Contributes to patient comfort during and between dressing changes
- Diminishes bioburden issue and biofilm development*
- Never sacrifice negative pressure for irrigation
